Bay to meet with union

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council agreed Tuesday to hold a meeting with disgruntled Public Works Department employees -- and refused to pass a resolution that says the city will not recognize a union.

Mayor Eddie Favre, following the advice of labor law experts, had asked council to adopt a resolution saying the city will not recognize a union for several reasons, including existing pay, benefits and policies that are superior to most in this area.

That request, however, was shot down in a 3-2 vote of council. Council members James Thriffley, Thomas Farve and council president Tad Black voted against the mayor's proposed resolution. They said they wanted the employees to have a chance to meet with council first.

Council members Charles Scianna and James Rutherford voted in favor of the mayor's resolution, although they said they didn't object to meeting with the employees.

The union matter first was presented to council last October, when an organizer of the Office & Professional Employees International Union AFL-CIO said workers in the Public Works Department had contacted him about some problems.

Howard Turberville, the union representative, said workers have experienced "unfair application of policies and procedures", and want the city to recognize the union to represent them.

While some council members said they were aware of discontent within the department, council essentially put off further discussion of the matter until last Monday, when Turberville again showed up at council's work-shop meeting.

Holly Hoda said someone turned on a hose overnight to create this wintry scene at her mom's house at 127 Washington Street in Bay St. Louis. She woke up Monday morning to discover the handiwork of Mother Nature. Temperatures in the area dipped to 22 degrees on Sunday night, a vast difference from the expected high of 70 today. (Echo staff photo by Ed Lepoma)

Beach hotel planned

BY RICHARD MEEK

The developer of a proposed hotel and retail center in Bay St. Louis said he expects some negative reaction, but said the project would be a boom to downtown businesses.

Ken Murphy, who unveiled plans for a 50-room hotel and retail center, said he "anticipates some negativity."

"I know Bay St. Louis," Murphy said. "There is no way will I get 100 percent support."

"But since there is no leadership (to encourage economic development), it is up to (the businesses) to come up with creative and innovative ways to attract people to the area," said Murphy, a co-owner of Dan B's.

"We have to be concerned with bringing people downtown and making the businesses viable," he added. "We have to increase tourism."

The proposed six-story building is scheduled to be constructed at the foot of Main Street, next to Dan B's on the beach. Murphy said he has

Board seeking landfill meeting with NASA

BY ED LEPOMA

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans to meet with NASA officials at the Stennis Space Center before moving forward on any rubbish or landfill plans.

Board President and District 1 Supervisor Philip Moran divulged the latest behind-the-scenes maneuvering Wednesday morning when supervisors convened at the County Courthouse for their first "working session" since taking office Jan. 2. The working sessions help supervisors to plan and discuss issues that might come up at their next formal meeting.

Moran, the four other supervisors and Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar attended a meeting Tuesday night at Hancock North Central Elementary to listen to plans by a private landowner who wants to open up a rubbish site off Hwy. 43 northwest of Kiln.

The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality Permit Board conducted the hearing on Curtis Wayne Johnson's request to permit a 50-acre rubbish site on his property off Firetower Road. Johnson, who is listed on the application as the owner and operator of Mississippi Pumping and Disposal Service, Inc. owns a total of 160 acres in the area.

If approved, his site would be permitted to accept and charge for materials now being dumped at no charge by residents, who use the county's rubbish site at Standard.

Material that would be accepted includes demolition and construction debris, tree branches and limbs, discarded appliances, and other discarded trash, but not solid waste.

Several residents of the Kiln area came to the hearing to complain they didn't want a rubbish site so close to their homes. The complaints of increased heavy truck traffic and decreased property values were similar to those who opposed the county's proposed landfill at a December public information forum.

Moran, representing the supervisors, said he told hearing officers Tuesday night that the board would like state environmental officials to hold off approving any rubbish sites until the county decides its future course.

In the workshop session, Moran used the Johnson application to hammer home his feelings that the county needs a comprehensive county zoning ordinance.

Bond issue in Bay?

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre is asking City Council to consider a $6 million capital improvement issue.

Favre told a workshop session of council Monday that while the city has made significant capital improvement allocations annually to upgrade public facilities, "it's not getting us there fast enough."

The annual appropriations, he said, could be diverted to pay off the bond issue.

The matter came up during discussion of prioritizing the city's sidewalk construction program. But Favre had earlier suggested a bond issue, when the city was studying the prop-

Thoughts for meditation:

My Quest
 I do not seek glory, Lord, nor do I seek wealth or fame, and what little good I do, I do, Lord, in Thy name.

There are lost and lonely souls who cannot find their way, but a bit of love and kindness could help them through each day.

Please let me be Thy messenger, and all I'll ever ask of Thee — is to save a little place for me. I shall try to earn that place. Such has always been "my quest."

I'll do the very best I can, and to Thee, Lord, leave the rest.

 There is beauty in the forest when the trees are green and fair.

There is beauty in the meadow when wild flowers scent the air.

There is beauty in the sunlight and soft blue beams above.

Oh, the world is full of beauty when the heart is full of love.

As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness and

BACKACHE.

The little pain that lasts and lasts.

Back pain often starts small. Sometimes it disappears; usually it returns; often it gets worse. If left untreated, back pain can linger for years as a nagging reminder that all is not well.

Your job may be the culprit; you may sit all day hunched over a desk; you may lift heavy objects; you may be constantly bending over, caring for children. These are common causes of misaligned vertebrae of the spine and may be good reasons why you have back pain.

And because the spine is a complex system which is connected to other areas of the body, misaligned vertebrae in the spine can also be the reason for tension, stiffness, fatigue and more specifically back pain and headaches.

Our doctors at HODA CHIROPRACTIC CLINICS are specialists in back care. They can restore spinal vertebrae to their proper position, relieving pain and avoiding further complications.

Make this the last morning your back is left untreated. See Dr. Desmond W. Hoda.

Cats out at Bay High

BY RICHARD MEEK

Tigers are in, cats out at Bay High School.

In a surprising move Monday night, the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board unanimously voted to ban the controversial dissection of cats in an advanced biology class at Bay High School, appropriately nicknamed the "Tigers."

Instead, the board instructed Superintendent Paul Tisdale to find alternatives for dissection purposes.

"Dissection needs to be offered because of the educational opportunity it provides to students," board member Richard Flowers said. "But I have a problem with dissection of domestic pets."

The board's vote was a reversal of a December decision that allowed the cats to be dissected this year, but stipulated that options be found in the future.

The cats that were to have been used later this spring have already been purchased and delivered from Delta Biological Supply House.

However, Tisdale told board members Monday that he believes the cats will be able to be returned and something in their place purchased.

Tisdale said biology teacher and Bay High Athletic Director Debbie Triplett has suggested pink and rabbits, but added neither are comparable to a cat as a specimen. The best opportunity for educational advancement is cats.

Board members have suggested rats, pigs and sharks. The vote drew to a close a controversy that originally surfaced last spring, when members of the Hancock County Humane Society and others filed the board's meeting room to protest the dissection of felines. At the time, the board discussed alternatives, but no formal action was taken.

The issue resurfaced in December when payment for the cats for this year showed up on the monthly claims docket. Board President Linda Penrose voiced the loudest objection, although it was later learned that her daughter, Belle, is a student in the class.

Penrose said as a parent she has "no objection" to a cat being used for dissection, but as a board member, she was opposed.

The cat controversy was only one vignette of a lengthy meeting that had provided more subplots than a Hitchcock novel.

Board attorney Lucien Gex began meeting by swearing in new member Cleveland Williams. Williams, a former athletic director at Bay High, was appointed by Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre to replace Tracy Joseph. Joseph resigned in late December to devote more time to raising her child.

One of the meeting's major skirmishes came when the board approved by a 3-2 margin Penrose's idea to appoint Bay High Assistant Principal James Rivers as a "Board Designee."

Rivers' role is unclear, but legally, according to school board attorneys, he can make recommendations on all of the district's principals or two of the administrators, either non-certified or certified.

By appointing Rivers as board designee, the board, in effect, reduced Tisdale's role in the evaluation process of strategic school personnel.

The vote came after the board's second executive session of the evening. After reconvening in open session, board member Frank Perniciaro made the motion for Rivers' appointment, which Williams seconded. Board Secretary David Turcotte opposed the move, saying, "We should put aside personal agendas and do what is the best interest of the students. That is to take care of the children of this school district."

Board member Richard Flowers also opposed the motion.

Another of Tisdale's authoritative powers was stripped earlier in the meeting when Penrose disbanded an existing committee formed to study methods of class rankings and formed a new committee that will ostensibly calculate the valedictorian and salutatorian. She appointed Bay High Assistant Principal James Baldree and Pat Harris to head the committee.

Because of controversy surrounding the issue, Tisdale had been charged with the task of calculating the school's top students. The conflict centered around the confusing issue of utilizing numeric values to determine the valedictorian and salutatorian as opposed to a weighted quality point scale.

In other matters:

The board granted approval to members who would like to attend the National School Board convention, scheduled for April in Orlando, Fla. On Monday night, Perniciaro and Penrose said they would be attending. On Tuesday morning, Williams added his name to the list. The convention is scheduled during the district's spring break.

District officials estimate the cost to send the three will be in the neighborhood of $4,500, or approximately $1,500 per person.

Approved March 2 as an election date for Penrose's seat. Although Penrose has not said publicly if she will seek reelection, she did commit to attend the national board meeting in April.

Interestingly, Williams originally abstained from approving the election date, but then changed his vote and gave his approval. For obvious reasons, Penrose also abstained.

Tisdale presented North Bay Elementary Principal Kim Stasny with a certificate for being named Administrator of the Year in the Fifth Congress-

Trustee election March 2

The deadline for candidates interested in running in the upcoming election for trustee on the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board is Jan. 19, school district officials said.

The election is scheduled for March 2 for the seat currently held by Board President Linda Penrose. Penrose's district is predominantly located in Waveland.

A candidate must file a petition with superintendent Paul Tisdale at least 40 days before the election, and it must contain the signatures of at least 25 qualified voters who are residents of the district to be represented.

Potential candidates should call 467-6621 for further information.

sional District. Stasny was one of the five finalists for state Administrator of the Year.

Architect Kevin Fitzpatrick revealed preliminary plans for a proposed new middle school. The sprawling design, which he admitted could be constructed in a tighter unit, contains 36 classrooms, two technical classes, two labs, a cafeteria, and a media center, spread over 92,000 square feet.

The board is considering a site near Bay High School for a new middle school, but the majority of the property in question is designated wetlands.

Fitzpatrick said he was able to "capitalize as much as possible" on the uplands, and "reduce mitigation (with the Corps of Engineers) to a minimum."

Fitzpatrick's plans will be studied by engineers at Brown and Mitchell to evaluate wetlands usage.

Penrose opposed the Brown and Mitchell evaluation since the site has yet to be purchased, but board attorney Lucien Gex pointed out the necessity to find out if Fitzpatrick's plans are acceptable to meet the demands of the site.

Over Penrose's initial objections, the board voted to allocate $1,800 for noted children's author Barry Rudner to visit the district's schools April 24-26. Rudner will read to the students, who will then be able to talk with the author.

Initially, Penrose appeared incredulous that the board would approve the measure.

"What do you think?" she asked the board. "You want to pay (Rudner) $1,800 to read his books?"

Flowers reminded Penrose that the author's visit was "an opportunity for students to interact with an expert in his field."

"He can teach the students about writing," he added. "Who knows, there may be a budding author out there. I don't think it's unreasonable."

The motion passed 5-0.

Burglary concerns residents

Bay St. Louis City Council member Charles Scianna said Monday that Cedar Point residents are concerned over the recent New Year's Eve holdup of two women in their residence.

During a workshop meeting of City Council, Scianna said the incident had stirred interest in the residential area, where many of the residents live alone.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said two detectives currently are investigating the holdup. Officials believe the crime may be linked to similar incidents in Harrison County, McNeil said.

The chief said the investigation so far indicates that two men were waiting inside the residence when the occupants returned home around 9-9:30 p.m., indicating there was "some pre-planning involved" in the holdup.

The women were tied up with tape and robbed by two white men, who were wearing ski masks and armed with handguns. After the men left, the women managed to free themselves and called authorities, police said.

Prior to working for the district attorney's office, Stepro, 44, was an officer on the Waveland police force. He was hired at a salary of $36,000.

McNeil said the additional position is necessary as the department expands to deal with an increasing workload.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Brett Favre is the main topic of conversation along in the Coast, and many are wishing him the best of luck this weekend when the Packers will get a real test, against Dallas.

The Packers, led by Brett last week, did a fine job in removing San Francisco from the play-off picture.

Mississippi probably gave Wisconsin a good run in the number of people watching the Packers game on television Saturday.

I do not watch many professional football games, but when Brett is playing, that is a different story. I also feel there are many others in the county who are like me.

Here is wishing the best of luck to Brett and the Packers.

By the way, Hancock North Central cracked the Associated Press' top ten high schools in Mississippi in early October 1986 for the first time when Brett was a senior quarterback.

The highest ranking they reached was number five in the state in the last week of October when the Hawks were 8-0.

The Hawks finished that season 8-2.

Brett did not throw many touchdown passes in high school because of the running attack used by the Hawks.

There were very nifty runners in the backfield with him, and it wasn't unusual for the team to rack up over 300 yards on the ground. Brett got his share of those yards.

Brett took over the quarterback job as a junior and was one of the team's captains in his senior year.

We have had some of the Green Bay-type weather early this week here at Brett Favre's home county.

We do not like those chill factors below zero and temperatures around 20.

Those northerly winds were sure biting on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

I realize I have seen some single-digit temperatures here in Hancock County, but I can only recall that happening twice in my lifetime.

Many residents of Spanish Acres Subdivision got a chilly awakening Monday morning when something happened to their natural gas supply around daybreak.

I do not know how many depend on natural gas for heat, but I have a feeling it is most of the homes in that particular Bay St. Louis subdivision.

Bay St. Louis crews got busy real fast and took care of the problem.

Congratulations are in order for State Representative J.P. Compretta upon his being named as chairman of the Transportation Committee.

The Transportation Committee is very important, especially when it deals with transportation issues for highway improvements in casino areas.

J.P. is no stranger in Jackson, as he now begins his 17th year in the Legislature. He is a very popular Hancock County representative and was one of the very few legislators in the state who went unopposed in the primaries and general elections last year.

J.P. also serves on the influential Ways and Means Committee, a newly created committee on Juvenile Justice, the Judiciary "A" Committee, and the Universities and Colleges Committee.

Compretta's entire district is in the southern part of the county, and he is joined this session with freshman Representative Dirk Dedaux, who represents sections in the northern portion of the county and portions of three other counties.

Dedaux has been named to the Agriculture, Game and Fish, Judiciary "B", Public Grounds and Apportionment and Elections committees.

We wish both Compretta and Dedaux the best as our representatives in Jackson.

Once again Hancock County has been awarded federal funds under the Emergency Food and Shelter Natural Board Program (FEMA).

The FEMA funds are to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the area.

A meeting of the local board is to be held Friday, Jan. 19, 9 a.m. at the Coast Electric Auditorium Conference Center for allocating the funds to qualifying agencies.

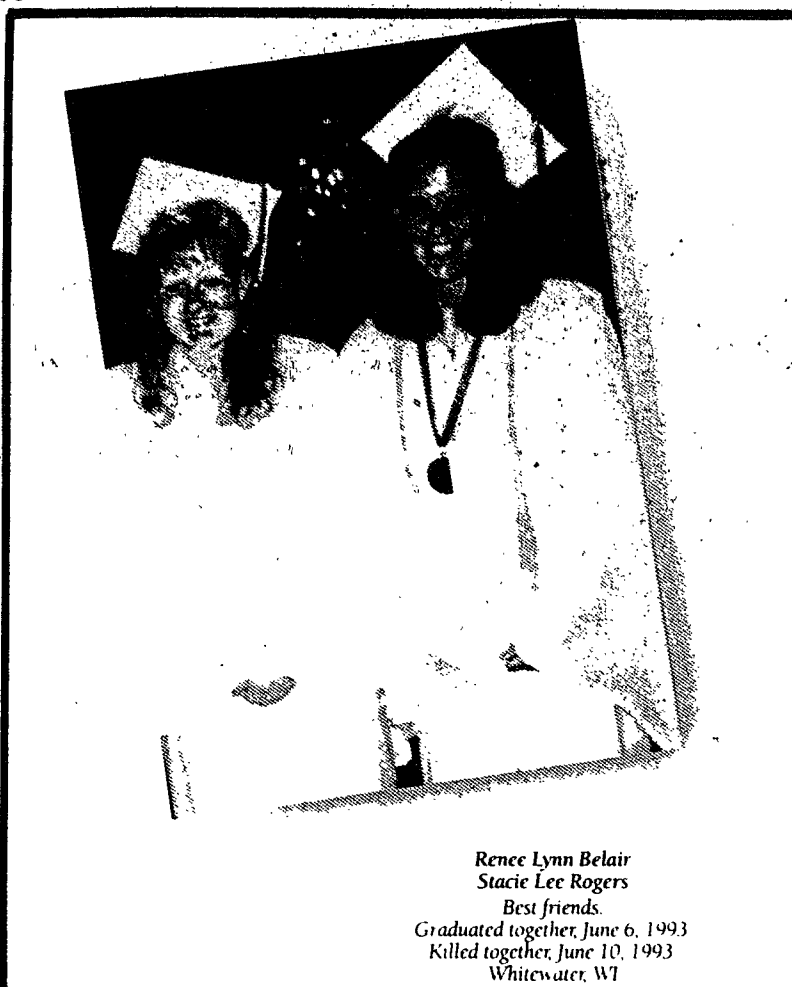

Eligible agencies needing further information may contact Joseph Varino, St. Clare Conference of St. Vincent de Paul Society, 467-0703.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader objects to Meek's commentary

In response to Mr. Meek's commentary concerning Mr. Tisdale and his remaining tenure as superintendent of Bay-Waveland schools, I for one feel Mr. Meek committed a grave injustice not only against Mrs. Penrose, Mr. Perniciaro and Mr. Williams, but also against the public when he implied that board members could and would be so immature as to oust Mr. Tisdale on personal matters only.

As a parent, I think his record should stand for itself, and if not extending his contract is the outcome of examining his record, then so be it!

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

By Dirk Dedaux
State Representative
District 93

On Tuesday, Jan. 2, I was sworn in as the newly elected State Representative from District 93.

The Mississippi House of Representatives only has 16 new members this year. This is the smallest freshman class that anyone can remember.

Just moments after being sworn in, we had the opportunity to vote on a critical element of the 111th session. The House of Representatives established a standing committee to deal with the new rise of juvenile crime in Mississippi. By creating the 25-member Juvenile Justice Committee, the legislature has begun the process of dealing with the problems of youth crime.

Our first week in the legislature was filled mostly with decisions about the structural management of the House for the session. Among these decisions were the election of our House Clerk and House Postmistress, but most important was the appointment of the House membership to committees.

Speaker of the House Tim Ford has the power to appoint members to most committees. He also appoints most chairmen and vice chairmen. On Friday, Dec. 5, committee assignments were announced.

I was assigned to Agriculture, Game and Fish, Judiciary B, Public Grounds and Apportionment and Elections.

Commentary

Tisdale's power diluted by board

BY RICHARD MEEK

A revamped Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board sent an apparent stern message to Superintendent Paul Tisdale Monday night.

Amid speculation that Tisdale may be fired, three board members, in effect, told the superintendent that he will be allowed to complete the final two and a half years remaining on his contract, but unpleasanties lie ahead.

Actions by the board on Monday undermined Tisdale's authority, leaving observers to wonder what do certain board members expect from the superintendent for the duration of his contract.

After this school year, Tisdale has one year left on the contract, plus an option year, which is his choice. It is a contract board president Linda Penrose, perhaps Tisdale's strongest and most vocal foe, approved in January of 1994.

The personality of the board changed Monday when Cleveland Williams was sworn in. Williams was appointed by Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre to complete the unexpired term of Tracy Joseph, who resigned to spend more time with her child.

It became obvious on Monday that Penrose, Williams and Frank Perniciaro form a solid 3-2 anti-Tisdale block.

The three effectively told Tisdale they were stripping him of his evaluation duties by appointing Bay High Assistant Principal James Rivers as a "Board Designee." The seldom used and confusing "Board Designee" statutes allow for a board to appoint a designee to evaluate as many principals in a particular district as one would please, or two administrative personnel, and that can either be certified or non-certified. It is not clear what Rivers' role will be, but it has created a cache of intriguing possibilities.

Perhaps the most plausible is that in February, the board, by a 3-2 margin, could dissolve the current high school that runs from seventh through 12th grades and revert to separate junior high and high schools. This could pave the way for Rivers to recommend former junior high principal James Baldree to his old job, a recommendation the board most likely would eagerly approve, again by a 3-2 vote.

Let one forget, nearly one year ago, Tisdale recommended, and the board approved the superintendent's personal recommendations, which included the termination of Baldree. Baldree appealed to an independent hearing officer, who upheld Tisdale.

But Penrose led a movement to have Baldree reinstated in late spring.

Penrose on Monday also took away the responsibility of calculating the Bay High valedictorian and salutatorian from Tisdale and charged a newly-formed committee to make that determination. Who's to head that committee? Baldree and Pat Harris.

It became obvious as the meeting unfolded that Tisdale may be stymied on his every move. As much as possible, it seems apparent the board majority will continue to strip Tisdale of his authority, reducing him to a mere figurehead.

There still remains the possibility the board will either buy out Tisdale's contract or fire him. But both are cost prohibitive.

The price tag to buy out Tisdale's contract is in the neighborhood of $150,000. And firing Tisdale without paying him what's left on his contract would certainly lead to costly litigation.

Another curious move Monday came when Penrose and Perniciaro expressed their desires to attend the National School Board convention, scheduled in mid-April in Orlando, Fla. On Tuesday morning, Williams said he also opted to join the twosome in Florida.

Remember, with the exception of Williams, this is the same board that adopted a deficit budget totaling over $100,000. Additionally, the adopted budget had only $500 allocated for school board travel.

The junket to Orlando will cost the taxpayers nearly $5,000. Last year's convention was held in far less seductive Mobile, and only Richard Flowers attended.

Board members should reconsider, and designate one trustee to attend. Upon his or her return, that trustee could deliver a report to the rest of the board, and bring back available materials. At a cost of nearly $1,500 per person, two is too many, three is lavish.

Move is underway to strengthen DUI laws

A call to strengthen Mississippi's Implied Consent (DUI) Law by closing loopholes which allow drinking drivers to escape punishment was the purpose of a news conference held at the Capitol in Jackson, according to Roger Moore, executive director of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD).

"The response was very encouraging," Moore said in a recent interview. "Our primary purpose is to call legislative and media attention to the dangerous loopholes that exist in the current law, and I feel that objective was met. Now we must take the necessary action to strengthen both enforcement and administrative procedures, while realizing that safety is the main issue."

Lt. Gov. Ronnie Musgrove, Attorney General Mike Moore, Speaker of the House Tim Ford, Rep. Keith Montgomery and

Public Safety Commissioner Jim Ingram were among the approximately 100 legislators, parents and public-safety officials attending who pledged strong support of necessary reforms. Sixty-five of 120 House members have signed on as sponsors of the new DUI legislation.

Changes hoped to be enacted include:

- Prohibit the reduction of any Driving Under the Influence (DUI) related offense to a lesser offense;
- Remove all Implied Consent violations by under-age drivers from Youth Court Jurisdiction;
- Clarify the law that DUI sentences shall run consecutively rather than concurrently;
- Require that the Commissioner of Public Safety receive notice before a hardship hearing is held to allow for any possible objection by the Department of Public Safety regarding the eligibility for hardship in relation to the driving privilege;
- Deny the issuance of a driver's license to any person whose license is currently revoked or suspended in Mississippi or any other state or territory;
- Add a Victim Impact Panel as a sentencing alternative for a first DUI conviction;
- Grant DUI-related vehicle forfeiture to the local law enforcement jurisdiction rather than the state on the third or subsequent DUI conviction;
- Require that the analysis of blood and/or other chemical tests related to DUI be administered by the Mississippi Crime Laboratory or a laboratory approved by the Mississippi Crime Laboratory; and
- Limit the hardship process for DUI to the county where the offense occurred.

Donald O'Cain, the governor's representative for highway safety and executive director, Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning, noted that "We are far more interested in prevention than punishment, and it is hoped that closing these loopholes will help 'would-be' impaired drivers to realize that the consequences of this deadly behavior will be sure and swift. If we are to prevent the hundreds of deaths that impaired driving causes each year, we must take every step to encourage drivers to think before they drink."

Sponsored by the Safe & Sober committee of the Mississippi Association of Highway Safety Leaders (MAHSL), the Implied Consent Law proposals are in line with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration campaign to make the nation's roadways safer.

Don't stereotype Mississippians as racists

Hollywood screenwriter and Biloxi native David Sheffield challenged university graduates to help eradicate the "nagging stereotype of racist Mississippi."

Sheffield, who got his first big showbusiness break writing comedy bits for NBC-TV's Saturday Night Live series, told nearly 1,000 fall graduates at the University of Southern Mississippi he often has encountered critical perceptions of the state expressed by people who had never visited the state.

"...I think we should send a message that anyone, anywhere who assumes that a person is a racist based merely on where they are from is himself guilty of bias," said Sheffield, a 1967 Biloxi High School graduate and 1972 USM grad.

"My challenge to you is this," he said. "We must endeavor to rid ourselves of the nagging sterereotype of racist Mississippi. It has cost us greatly. It has cost us a measure of our self-esteem — and it has cost us in terms of our economic development.

"The sooner we spread the word that Mississippi is changing, the sooner we will be able to attract new industry. Tourism will flourish. Business investment will flow into the state. Mississippi will prosper — and that will mean more and better jobs, and a better life for all Mississippians, black and white," said the commencement speaker, who co-wrote the Eddie Murphy hit movie, "Coming to America," and is now considered a top screenwriter.

On a lighter note, Sheffield offered some advice "for those of you to whom southern speech is a foreign language."

"Take the word, 'Ya'll' for example," he instructed. "As any good Mississippian will tell you, 'ya'll' is a perfectly good pronoun. It's very simple. 'Ya'll' is the plural form of 'you.' It should never be used in the singular, the way it's misused in so many bad movies and TV shows about the South.

"One never says to another person, 'How are ya'll doing?' Unless, of course, you mean to include 'your momma and them.' There is a plural possessive form, of course: 'Ya'llses.' As in, 'Is that ya'llses dog?' So please, try to get it straight. It's you, ya'll, ya'llses. Hollywood never gets it right, it seems."

Sheffield, who once worked as a reporter for WDAM-TV in Laurel and Hattiesburg, resides in Los Angeles with his wife, the former Cynthia Walker of Laurel. He keeps his 48-foot boat, the Skipjack, anchored in Biloxi, however, and returns to the Mississippi Gulf Coast as often as possible for fishing trips with old friends.

A host of free activities are scheduled, including a ribbon-cutting at 1 p.m.; the announcement of the winner of the "Name the Y" contest, the prize award at 4 p.m., and the organization's resulting new name; and a dance for youth, 5-8 p.m., sponsored by 105.9 KISS-FM. All events will take place at 20134 Pineville Road in Long Beach.

Open house activities include:

- 10 a.m.-5 p.m.: Moon Walk, finger painting, face painting
- 1 p.m.: Ribbon-cutting ceremony
- 2-5 p.m.: Fat testing, blood pressure checks
- 4 p.m.: Announcement of the new name for the YMCA, prize to the winner
- 5-8 p.m.: Youth dance, sponsored by 105.9 KISS-FM

Throughout the day, healthy snacks.

All of these activities are open to the public.

As a special gift to area families, parents are invited to try out the Long Beach/Pass Christian Y's "Little Critters" day care program for free any day between Jan. 15 and 19. Participating children must be ages two to five. Please call the Y at 864-1223 for additional information and reservations.

The open house is the first of several events to take place during National YMCA Week (Jan. 13-21). Other activities, which are designed for the children who attend the Y, include YMCA Play Day (Jan. 16), during which the youth attending the Y's Prime Time (before- and after-school program) will play games invented by the YMCA (including volleyball and basketball); YMCA Trivia Day, which will include a fun trivia game about the YMCA; YMCA Community Service Day, during which the youth will make greeting cards for a local nursing home; and YMCA Celebration Day, best described as a big party for the kids.

Thyroid Awareness Month

Slidell Memorial Hospital aims to increase the community's awareness of hypothyroidism, a disorder of the thyroid gland, at an educational program in January — Thyroid Awareness Month.

The program, "Understanding Hypothyroidism," will be presented by Dr. Claire Wiegand, a local endocrinologist, at noon Wednesday, Jan. 10 in SMH's Medical Office Building Conference Rooms C and D.

"Thyroid disorders affect approximately six to seven million people in the U.S., half of whom are undiagnosed because of the subtle, insidious nature of some of the symptoms," said Wiegand.

Hypothyroidism, resulting from an underactive thyroid gland, is a disorder that usually occurs when the gland does not produce enough hormone. It can occur at any age, with women over 40 having an increased risk.

"In its early stages, the body starts to slow down with symptoms that can masquerade those of aging, menopause and depression," said Wiegand.

As it progresses, typical signs of hypothyroidism include fatigue, lethargy, weight gain, dry or rough skin and hair, constipation and irregular menstrual periods.

"But it's the condition's slow onset and subtle warning signs that keep people from realizing it's a thyroid problem," said Wiegand.

The development of the thyroid-stimulating hormone test, called the TSH test, has allowed physicians to identify and treat thyroid disease while it is still in the mild, subclinical stage. TSH tests will be available at Slidell Memorial following Dr. Wiegand's program for a $10 discounted fee (regularly $70).

"The good news is that once it's diagnosed, treatment is effective and can prevent end-organ damage caused by lack of sufficient thyroid hormone," said Wiegand.

Left untreated, the condition could have serious negative health effects on the cardiovascular system, reproductive system and other major organs.

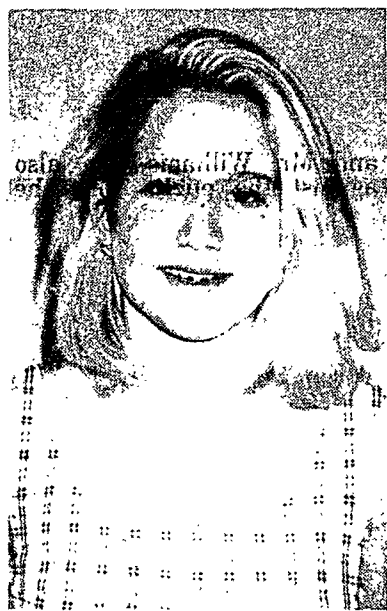

Another less common form of thyroid illness, hyperthyroidism, is caused by an overactive thyroid gland. The presence of too much thyroid hormone in the body causes the metabolism to speed up, resulting in symptoms such as nervousness, heart palpitations, unexplained weight loss, heat intolerance, irritability and muscle tremors in the later stages of the illness. Hyperthyroidism affects nearly one million Americans, mostly women in their 30s and 40s.

For information on the thyroid program and screening, call SMH's Referral Line at 646-0044.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

The country club will return

NEW CLUB

The building committee for the new Diamondhead Country Club has finished its survey of club members, organizations and groups regarding priorities for the new club.

Acting upon the feasibility, there will be a ballroom to seat approximately 300 people for dancing and dinner and could be transformed to seat about 500 theater-style.

The new facility will contain a pro-shop, bar and grill, dining areas and sufficient meeting rooms.

Mr. Montjoy, general manager, said "we will come out of this with a building to meet modern needs for the next 40 years. It will be low maintenance with low operating costs."

Let's all be sure that we give our support when needed to make this project a success and of benefit to all.

osed budget for this fiscal year.

Major outlays lie ahead for the city in several areas, including five drainage projects now on the drawing boards. Favre said those projects will cost some $2 million.

There are other needs as well, including repairs to the city's sewer system. Council President Tad Black said Monday that while two-thirds of the city's waste water flows in lines under Ballentine Street, those lines are in danger of collapse.

Meanwhile, the city has committed to constructing a major sports complex near Bay High School, and a new senior citizens complex near the police and fire station. The need to buy an additional fire truck — and a station to house it — also has been under discussion recently.

Council seemed receptive to the mayor's bond issue idea, and asked that he present council with a proposed project list to consider.

Depressed by winter?

Lighten effects of Seasonal Affective Disorder

While many anticipate the arrival of fall and winter, for others a change in season means a change in mood — for the worse.

Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), a depressed condition brought on by the shorter days of fall and winter, afflicts thousands each year, according to Mississippi State University counseling professional.

"Light has a profound effect on most living things," said Jeanne Lee. "It signals migration for birds and hibernation for mammals, for instance."

Lee said light also can have an effect on mood. "The presence of light inhibits the production of melatonin, a hormone that causes extreme behavior changes in animals. So, as days get shorter during the fall and winter, melatonin production increases."

It's thought that this increase causes the winter blues in some and, in more severe cases, depression, she added. Among SAD symptoms to watch for:

- Depression, particularly in the fall and winter;
- A tendency to binge on carbohydrates;
- Changes in personal relationships, and;
- Periods of poor work performance.

For periods when sunlight is not available — often the case in fall and winter — Lee suggests artificial lighting.

For more information about SAD, contact Lee at (601) 325-2091.

YMCA holds contest

The Mississippi Gulf Coast YMCA is looking for a new name for its Long Beach/Pass Christian facility.

YMCA officials announced in November that the Long Beach facility will dedicate itself full-time to the needs of area youth starting Jan. 1.

The contest will run through Jan. 12, and the winner will not only give the new Y a new name, but will additionally take home a shiny new bike, courtesy of area merchants. Contestants must live along the Mississippi Gulf Coast and be 18 years or younger.

Anyone interested in participating should send a postcard with name, address (including city and zip), age, school, and the suggested name for the Long Beach/Pass Christian Y. Participants may enter as many times as they wish. Entry information may be dropped off at any Mississippi Gulf Coast YMCA or sent to 105.9 KISS-FM (sponsor of the contest) at 212 Debuys Road, Biloxi, 39531.

The "Name the Y" contest winner will be announced Jan. 15 at the facility's open house celebration which will include a variety of events including a free dance for youth from 5-8 p.m., sponsored by 105.9 KISS-FM.

Anyone wanting additional information about the "Name the Y" contest may call the Mississippi Gulf Coast YMCA main office at 872-7247.

Warrant exercise results in $1,150,000 additional capital

Casino Resource Corporation (NASDAQ: CSNR) has announced the warrant exercise for the purchase of 1,143,444 shares of the company's common stock by a major investor and consultant to the company for a total consideration of approximately $2.15 million, $650,000 of which was received in November 1995, and $500,000, which was received in January 1996. The issuance of additional shares increases Casino Resource Corporation's outstanding shares to 8,889,451. The balance of the exercise price is payable in December 1996.

Pursuant to the transaction, the shareholder has granted to Jack Pilger, chairman and chief executive officer, voting rights on 546,722 of the newly issued shares, such voting rights to continue so long as Pilger remains chief executive officer. These voting rights along with Pilger's existing ownership increase Pilger's voting position to over 1.8 million shares or approximately 20.5 percent of total shares now outstanding. "Despite a certain amount of dilution, we believe that this exercise of warrants by a long-time friend and consultant to the company represents a vote of confidence in Casino Resource Corporation's management and the company's potential," said Pilger. "The capital infusion will aid us in identifying and completing existing opportunities," he added.

Casino Resource Corporation is a diversified hospitality and entertainment enterprise. The company owns and operates the 2,000-seat Country Tonite Theatre in Branson, Mo.; Country Tonite Enterprises, an award-winning theatrical production company in Las Vegas (producers of the "Country Tonite Show," currently in its fourth year at the Aladdin Hotel); and the 154-room Grand Hinckley Inn, located in Hincley, Minn., adjacent to the Grand Casino. In addition, the company has entered into strategic alliances for the development of Indian gaming properties in Michigan and Indiana.

Union

Monday, he asked the city to appoint a committee to deal with the union issue. Black responded that the city had agreed only to discuss whether or not to hold a workshop on the matter.

And Black, obviously irritated with Turberville, said "To be very honest, I don't like people going behind my back." Black made reference to a telephone call Turberville had made to a person in Detroit. Turberville said the call was made to a "friend" of Turberville's. Black declined to elaborate on the nature of the phone call.

Tuesday, Black brought up the union matter again by saying Council needs to decide what route it plans to take in response to Turberville's original request.

Black and Favre, both union members, said their vote to reject Favre's suggested resolution doesn't mean they are willing to recognize a union. In fact, Favre said the city could pass such a resolution after hearing the employees' complaints.

Black is a member of United Auto Workers union, while Favre belongs to the International Association of Machinists. Both said Tuesday they have held office in their locals.

Thriffley and Favre said they feared that passing an anti-union resolution before meeting with the employees would tend to alienate the employees further.

Thriffley said the meeting should be open to the employees -- and any representative they care to invite to the session. Black said he wanted to ensure that the meeting didn't turn into a raucous succession of complaints, although he wants them to have the opportunity to air their troubles to council.

Mayor Favre, meanwhile, was insistent that the city has in place a grievance policy that is adequate to deal with the employees' problems -- but the employees have not used that system so far.

Rutherford said he has no objection to meeting with the employees, but he stands opposed to recognizing a union.

Passing a resolution that states the city will not recognize the union, said Black, doesn't mean the employees can't belong to a union. "They have a right to form it and to join one. We just don't have to recognize it," he said.

"Let's get everything out on the damn table" said councilman Favre. "Let's have a one-shot deal and do what we've got to do."

The meeting was set for 7 to 8 p.m. Jan. 22.

In other business Tuesday, council approved a variance to allow operation of a bed and breakfast at 207 Union Street. The proposed proprietors, Dan and Nancy Henderson, plan a five-room facility with seven off-street parking spaces.

Dan Henderson said restoration of the home for an inn would take about two years to complete. Another bed and breakfast, the Palm House, operates only three doors to the west on Union.

Council also: --Adopted updated versions of several building codes, such as those covering plumbing, housing and electrical work.

--Agreed to allow a late delivery date for the annual audit performed by Moore & Powell. Favre said the city would get a 20 percent discount off the audit fee by agreeing to accept its completion after the tax season ends.

--Rejected the sole bid for work at the city Garden Center. The $16,000 bid was far in excess of what the city had expected.

Hotel

already contacted the Secretary of State's office, who directed him to the Department of Marine Resources for permits.

Murphy is hoping to start construction within four months, and completion six months after that.

He said the hotel will create jobs for "seven to 10 people."

"We are hoping to gross between one and two million on the hotel," Murphy added.

According to Murphy, retail space will be leased at rates ranging from $10-$13 per square foot.

"We want to give local businesses first shot," he said.

The project must gain the approval of the state, DMR and the city. The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission, which rejected a beachfront bed and breakfast proposal last year, must also give its blessing.

A 75-vehicle parking lot is included in the plans.

Board

"If the county had zoning, there would not have been a hearing last night," he said. "Because we don't, any property owner can do almost anything he wants on the land he owns," said Moran.

Moran said supervisors are trying to set up a meeting with Ron Magee, NASA's Environmental Officer, to investigate what lands might be available for a rubbish site or county landfill in the buffer zone around Stennis.

Magee later told the Echo that he would be glad to "talk about possibilities" with supervisors, as soon as the parties could settle on a date for the meeting.

He said the larger buffer zone around the giant Stennis complex contains more than 125,000 acres, but "95 percent of that land is privately owned." Magee said NASA owns about half of the 13,800 acres that serve as the core buffer zone immediately surrounding the Stennis Space Center.

Supervisors also invited Bill Johnson, consultant with Compton Engineering, to brief them on the county's rubbish site at Standard, and bring them up to date on the landfill permitting process.

Johnson told supervisors that the 41 acres the county is using for a rubbish site at Standard is nearly filled. He said the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality wanted it closed Dec. 31, but the county was able to get a six-month extension.

The Hancock County Solid Waste District wants to purchase from the School District an additional 91 acres adjacent to the rubbish site for a landfill, which already has preliminary permit approval.

Johnson was asked to find out if any of that land could be used for a rubbish site, if supervisors go forward with the landfill plans.

He left briefly to check the District's contract with Trans-American Waste Management Inc., which currently manages the rubbish site at Standard.

Johnson returned, and told supervisors, "Legally, some of the 91 acres could be used for a rubbish site, but it would be a waste of valuable land" since the whole site is permitted for a landfill, which could accept household garbage and other solid waste.

He explained to supervisors that Trans-American has offered to buy the entire 91 acres for the county to use for a landfill if a price can be negotiated with the School District. The county of the Solid Waste District would hold title to the property, he explained, unlike the Peacen Grove landfill, which is owned privately by Waste Management Inc.

In addition, Johnson said, Trans-American will also give the county $50,000 toward purchase of another rubbish site.

Johnson said Trans-American has also agreed to manage and operate a new rubbish site, and has promised there would be no charge to residents who want to dump there. Commercial dumpers would be charged, as they are now charged at Standard, Johnson said.

Supervisors also called in two members of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission to brief them on several projects, and to discuss future grant applications.

Senior Planner Sue Chamberlain told supervisors that $40,000 would be needed soon to select a design engineer, and begin preliminary design on the pedestrian walkway and bike path planned in Hancock County. In fiscal year 1997 (beginning next Oct. 1, the county would have to come up with $160,000 as part of its match, she said).

The project envisions a 2.75 mile pedestrian walkway stretching along the beachfront between Coleman Avenue and Waveland, and eight-mile bike path cutting through Bay St. Louis and linking with a one-mile bikeway in Waveland. It would be a joint project between the county and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

A federal grant of $951,000 has been approved, but the county and the cities have to come up with 25 percent of the estimated $1.2 cost of the entire project.

Clerk Tim Kellar also asked the GRPC to look into federal and state monies that might be available to make the old County Courthouse on Main Street more accessible to the handicapped.

Chamberlain said there were few, if any, avenues for funding.

EYE CARE

by Allen J. Koskan, M.D.

PROTECT YOUR EYES

If you were to ask the average person which was his or her most precious sense, chances are the answer "sight" would come up. These same people, however, are not likely to take the precautions necessary to protect their eyes. In fact, more than 2.4 million Americans suffer eye injuries each year, and one million of these people sustain visual impairment as a result. And, while it is true that less than four percent of all cases of blindness are caused by accident, it is equally true that more than ninety percent of these accidents could have been prevented. Perhaps the word "accident" is a misnomer because most eye injuries occur in predictable situations which could be prevented with the use of available protective eyewear. Ordinary glasses, even those with impact-resistant lenses, do not fall into this category. In fact, they may increase the risk of injury by shattering under high impact.

Don't take your good vision for granted. Call KOSKAN EYE CLINIC at 466-5201 to schedule an eye health exam and determine the proper eyewear you need. Regardless of your occupation or hobbies, we'll help you select eyewear that solves your vision problem, protects your eyes, and flatters your appearance. Our eyewear selection includes designer frames, sunglasses, and progressive lenses. We have served this community for over 15 years and specialize in the treatment of medically and surgically related eye problems. Our office is conveniently located at Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, MS. Laser surgery is performed in the office.

were announced by Speaker Tim Ford during the opening week of the 1996 legislative session. The committees have a major role in the legislative process, studying the bills, doing research, and often holding public hearings on the issues. There are 31 regular House committees, along with a number of joint House-Senate panels.

Compretta, starting his 17th year in the Legislature, represents House District 122 in Hancock County.

He also will serve this year on the influential Ways and Means Committee, a newly created committee on Juvenile Justice, the Judiciary "A" Committee, and the Universities and Colleges Committee.

As Chairman of Transportation, Compretta will head up the committee which handles legislation involving construction and maintenance of the state highway system including road projects in congested casino areas, traffic safety proposals, and other measures involving transportation issues.

Some of the major bills assigned to Transportation in recent years include the 1987 four-lane highway program, establishment of the Department of Transportation to take over duties of the old state Highway Department in 1992, and the massive road and bridge program passed in 1994.

The committee also handled legislation authorizing additional funds for highway improvements in casino areas, and revising the formula for distribution of State Aid Road money.

HNCE students celebrate Christmas

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Hancock North Central Elementary students put on a Christmas program prior to leaving school for the holiday season.

The Kindergarten students dressed in Frosty the Snowman costumes and sang the song "Frosty the Snowman" and recited the poem "Peppermint Sticks" for their part.

The first grade class sang the song, "On Top of the North Pole" and dressed in costume.

The second grade class brought Santa Claus in one the "Boogie-Woogie Choo Choo Train."

The third grade students sang the holiday favorite, "Rockin' Reindeer."

The fourth grade students sang various reindeer songs and "signed" to "Let There Be Peace On Earth."

The fifth grade students sang two songs, "Still, Still, Still," and "Do You Hear What I Hear?"

The sixth grade students sang the 12 days of Christmas - Cajun-style under the leadership of Jason Selzer.

The fifth graders sang two songs under the direction of Mrs. Enders.

Katie Hodge sang "On Top of The North Pole." Katie is a student in Ms. Robin Seal's first grade class.

Second graders arrived in the Boogie-Woogie Choo Choo train. From left were Larry Beech - elf, Taryn Tootle - elf, Whitley Loyd - elf, J.J. Averill - elf and Brad Favre as Santa.

2B-THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1996

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Richard Meek

He burst onto the scene 30 years ago, his now famous chiseled jaw masking his football genius.

For three decades, Don Shula was the producer of his own highlight film, providing football fans with an archive of gridiron memories. Shula coached in six Super Bowls and won two. He guided one team to an undefeated season, and his teams won a staggering 70 percent of the time. Fact is, he is the greatest coach in NFL history.

But Shula's career was much more than wins and losses. He brought dignity and class to a sport that at times seems to lack both. He was one of the game's great statesmen.

But thirty-three years after being named the youngest coach in the league, Shula, the league's graybeard, was forced out by an ambitious owner who could not ignore the lurking shadow of another successful coach. History will record that Shula resigned from the Miami Dolphins, but make no mistake, he was kicked into the heap of the football unemployed.

One does not have to look hard to see the footprints of Jimmy Johnson on Shula's back.

Shula deserved far better. Be assured that if former Miami owner Joe Robbie were still around, this sordid final chapter of Shula's career would have a more appropriate ending.

Dolphin owner Wayne Huizenga was classless in his unceremonious dumping of the league's winningest coach. He caved in to pressure of talk-show callers and media by force.

ing Shula out so Johnson could fill the coach's mammoth shoes.

The stress of three decades in the NFL has been showing on Shula for the past few years. But step aside? Not yet, said the coach, apparently feeling he had job security.

But as the frustration of Miami's annual playoff futility began to mount, so did the pressure to oust Shula for Johnson, who left Dallas after guiding the Cowboys to a pair of Super Bowl victories. Interestingly, like a good fish story, Johnson's coaching legacy has been greatly inflated since his departure in Dallas.

Johnson knows that, realizing that as the legacy continues to grow, so do his salary demands.

Johnson had a successful, but short NFL career. Shula was able to stand the test of time, nearly coaching in Super Bowls in four decades.

There is no disputing Shula's teams have slipped in the 90s. Free agency has dramatically altered the game's landscape, a change Shula seemed reluctant to accept.

Shula's success was built on loyalty and intimidation. He was Vince Lombardi in pastels. But he also became a relic of days gone by.

Shula won because he tapped into the emotion of his players. But today's players check their emotions at the front gate. Free agency has created a league of mercenaries, hired guns selling their services to the highest bidder from one year to the next.

Football is poorer because of

End of an era

Shula's departure. His is a legacy that will never die, only be revered over time.

*****
If one believes in destiny, then bet the paycheck on Green Bay against Dallas. Could there be a more romantic ending for Packer quarterback and Hancock County native Brett Favre to end his MVP season than with a Super Bowl appearance?

Favre will be awarded just about every conceivable piece of hardware at the end of the season, but it is the Vince Lombardi trophy, symbolic of the World Champions, that he cherishes most.

Favre's amazing transformation from uncorralled talent to mature leader continued last week in the Packers' surprisingly easy 27-17 victory over defending champion San Francisco in the 49ers' backyard. Favre was rarely rattled, and displayed the poise of a champion.

Talk of Favre's dream season can be heard in every corner of the county. And rarely a day goes by without seeing a youngster proudly waving Packer colors. His play has indeed touched the folks back home.

A "Brett Favre Day" is even being planned in Hancock County, subject to the quarterback's schedule.

The Packers have a legitimate opportunity to record their second consecutive road upset. Dallas has been reeling late in the season, while Green Bay has been at its best.

The biggest challenge for the Packers will be psychological, as the Cowboys have evicted Green Bay from the playoffs the last two seasons, both times in Irving.

Just a hunch, but look for an inspired Packer team to reverse that trend. Green Bay 24, Dallas 21.

Indianapolis' Cinderella ride to Tempe and Super Bowl XXX suffers a blowout in Pittsburgh. Sure, the Colts knocked off heavy-favored Kansas City at Arrowhead, but the Chiefs were done in by their own mistakes, including three missed field goals, and not by anything the Colts did. Kansas City's offense is one that relies on precision timing, and when that is off, so are the Chiefs.

The Steelers' offense is one that relies on brute strength, so mistakes and concentration lapses are not as disastrous. Plus, the Steelers' fierce defense will demote Captain Comeback back to private. Pittsburgh 28, Indianapolis 10

*****
From the Most Disappointing Category: Why were so many fans at the St. Stanislaus-Bay High disguised as empty seats?

The paltry attendance for last week's Mayor's Cup game was a disgrace. Granted, football is dominant in this area, but that is no excuse to ignore athletes in other sports. Show some loyalty to your school, and the athletes who wear its colors.

Rocks fall to Petal

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw basketball team debuted on Jan. 9 as the 14th ranked team in the state; however, that seemed to have been the kiss of death for the Rocks in their Jan. 9 battle with the Petal Panthers. SSC lost the game 76-66.

Petal nailed seven three-pointers to seal the victory against the Rocks. Chris Marshall hit four three-pointers for the Panthers.

SSC jumped out to a 15-12 lead in the first period only to see Petal tie the game in the second period and force both teams to go into halftime at 32-32.

The third period saw the Panthers score 23 points and hold the Rocks to just 15 points.

Terry Lawyer scored a game high 30 points for the Rocks while Kelton Thompson added 11 points in the loss.

The Rocks fall to 17-6 overall and 4-1 in the division.

Hawks tally two wins

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Hancock Hawks tallied division wins against the Oak Grove Warriors on Jan. 9 in Kiln.

The Hawks downed the Warriors 50-48 to improve their record to 10-9 overall while the Lady Hawks held the Lady Warriors at bay with a 48-41 win to up their record to 10-8 overall and 4-2 in the district.

The Hawks jumped out to a 15-10 first period lead only to see the Warriors take the lead 34-32 at the break.

Hancock edged Oak Grove in the second half 28-24 to take the narrow win.

Jerod Breaux led all scorers with 18 points and 11 rebounds and Jason Jones added 12 points and six assists in the win.

The Lady Hawks never fell behind during the game taking an 8-5 lead in the first period and increasing the lead to 25-19 by halftime.

Jessica Pucheu scored 13 points and grabbed 12 rebounds for the Lady Hawks. Monica Speights added eight points and 14 rebounds for the Lady Hawks in the win. Mindy Ladner finished with 10 points.

STOP SNEAK LEAKS

Natural gas is delivered through a system of underground piping. It is odorless in its natural state. Sometimes a disagreeable smell is added to let you know if any gas is escaping.

If you smell gas, see dirt blowing, bubbles in water or hear hissing you should take action immediately.

Gas leakage may occur from faulty appliances, loose connections, service lines inside or outside your home, or from larger gas lines. Leaks can be dangerous and should be dealt with promptly by experts.

IF YOU EVER SMELL SEE OR HEAR SIGNS OF GAS, even if you do not use it in your home - take these precautions promptly.

1. If odor is very strong and you are indoors, open all windows and doors to ventilate. Go outside. Call us from a neighbor's house (Koch Gateway Pipeline Company at 1-800-850-0051).
2. Do not turn any electrical switches on or off.
3. Do not light matches, smoke cigarettes or create any other source of ignition.

However slim the chances of danger, it doesn't pay to take needless risks. At the first sign of gas leak, play it safe.

Call us, 24 hours a day
1-800-850-0051

Before excavating, drilling or blasting, contractor should notify your state's one call agency at the appropriate number listed below.

Lee receives another gridiron All-American honor

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Michael Lee, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Lee of Bay St. Louis, has been tapped by another football publication as a Division-III All-American on the gridiron.

Don Hansen's National Weekly Football Gazette has named Lee to its All-American football team for NCAA Division III schools.

Lee was one of three Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference players named to the squad.
Last week, the Rhodes College running back was named to the Hewlett-Packard Division III third team All-American list after a senior season that saw Lee shatter many Lynx rushing records.

Lee rushed for 1,374 yards in only nine games. He had two 200 yard performances including a 258 yard and five touchdown performance against Mississippi College in Jackson on Nov. 4.

The next week Lee helped the Lynx capture a share of the SCAC title by rushing for 200 yards against Centre College in a 14-10 victory.

Lee has also been named a first team All-SCAC performer and twice named the SCAC Offensive Player of the Week.

As winter approaches, jigging spoons become more effective

If it's winter, it's time for jigging spoons.

That's the opinion of veteran bass tournament angler David Wharton. Wharton, a former guide on Lake Sam Rayburn, uses spoons throughout the year but prefers them now when the water begins to turn colder.

"The advantage of a jigging spoon is that you can put it right in front of bass in deep water and keep it there," explains Wharton. "You locate the bass on your electronic depthfinder, and then you can actually watch your spoon on the depthfinder, too."

When bass move to keep water during the winter months, says Wharton, they tend to suspend in large schools which makes them show up well on depthfinders. He looks for the fish in deep channels and bays or off deeper points. Frequently, bass will use the same structure year after year, and stay there for a week or longer.

"I believe the best way to fish a jigging spoon is vertically right under the boat," continues

Wharton. "Once I have the lure at the depth I want it, either by counting it down or by dropping it to the bottom and reeling it up a certain distance, I start jigging it vertically."

"I like to work a spoon with a quick snap of my wrists so the spoon does not jump upward very far," he says. "Some fishermen really jerk their rods hard so the spoon jumps four or five feet, but I think bass generally prefer a more subtle presentation."

After snapping his wrists to make the spoon jump up, the Johnson pro lowers his rod quickly so the spoon falls back naturally. This is when the majority of strikes occur.

"I believe one of the most common mistakes I see anglers make when fishing spoons is letting them fall on tight lines rather than slack lines," says Wharton. "I think a jigging spoon imitates an injured or dying minnow, and for it to do that properly, you have to let it fall naturally."

"It doesn't just drop straight down. It rolls on its side, or slides off in one direction or another, and it never does the same thing the same way twice as you're jigging it. That's what makes the jigging spoon so effective."

Depending on the depth of water he's fishing, Wharton will use 1/2 or 3/4 ounce spoons, and he doesn't hesitate to drop them into underwater brush and cover.

"If you stop your upward jigging and give the lure slack line the moment you feel it hit brush, the weight of the spoon will often free it again," he explains.

"You don't often mistake a bass strike for brush, either, because when bass hit a spoon they usually hit it hard."

Another reason Wharton likes to use jigging spoons this time of year is because where he catches one bass he often catches several more without ever having to move the boat.

Bassin' with the pros

Wharton. "Once I have the lure at the depth I want it, either by counting it down or by dropping it to the bottom and reeling it up a certain distance, I start jigging it vertically."

Crusaders crush Pirates

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Pass Christian Pirates traveled to Mercy Cross to play the Crusaders on Jan. 9 in high school basketball action.

The Crusaders trounced the Pirates 84-70 while the Lady Pirates downed the Lady Crusaders 40-31.

The Crusaders took a slight 16-12 lead in the first period but then surged ahead for 26 points in the second period.

The Crusader also had a 25 point fourth period to help seal the victory.

Robert S'ibbs led the Pirates with 15 points while Keith Macon and Darell Dedeaux each scored 11 points. Eddie Riley finished with 10 points in the loss.

The Lady Pirates scored 22 points in the first period and held the Lady Crusaders to just 13 points in the whole second half for the win.

Leslie Smith led Pass Christian with 11 points and Jenny Lucas scored 10 points in the win.

The Lady Pirates are now 12-9 on the season.
